Presentation Descriptions

1. An Overview of Center for Leadership and Service - The CLS offers a variety of programs and services to students, faculty and community partners. Informing students of how they can get involved, what our office does and how we can help is our goal in this presentation.

2. Teambuilding - Every group works better with as a cohesive team! We can facilitate a variety of teambuilding activities for your group depending on your needs. We can work with brand new groups, or those that have known each other for a long time and design activities that address the needs of your specific team.

3. Finding Service Opportunities - Many students are often assigned a certain number of service hours for their service-learning class. The Center for Leadership and Service can help teach students how to go about finding service opportunities and how to be a good volunteer once they get there.

4. What is Service-Learning? - Service-Learning faculty understand the importance of service in their curriculum, but often times the students might not. The CLS can present to your class on what service-learning is, why it is important, benefits for all involved, and how they can work to set up service. Service-Learning faculty understand the importance of service in their curriculum, but often times the students might not.

5. An Introduction to the Social Change Model - This model is a great framework for students to use when reflecting on their leadership experiences at the University of Florida. In this presentation we will go over the seven values of leadership and how they relate to their experience as a student.

6. Authentic Leadership - How diverse is your world? This workshop will explore the idea of diversity and discuss why diversity matters. This workshop gives strategies for effective leaders looking to create an inclusive environment where everyone matters, including ways to breakdown stereotypes.

7. Ethics and Leadership - Ever been stuck between a rock and a hard place? Leaders make decisions all the time, and to be good leaders, they must make those decisions ethical. Come learn how ethics and integrity are essential for leaders.

8. Civic Leadership - Long-term social change occurs when individuals assume leadership positions that empower them to make those changes occur. This workshop will help participants understand the ways in which they can take a lead in creating change in their communities.

9. Personal Leadership Style - Different people lead differently, and there are many ways to lead effectively. This workshop will help participants determine their own personal leadership style, as well as identify ways to integrate other styles into their own leadership.
10. Delegation - What is delegation? Why aren’t we very good at it? How can we be better delegates, and in turn, better leaders? This workshop answers all of these questions and gives participants the chance to practice their delegation skills.

11. Effective Communication - Working with and leading others requires great skill in communication. This workshop will highlight ways to ensure that you understand how you communicate and that you and your group are communicating well.

12. Goal Setting - "A goal without a plan is just a wish" -- Antoine de Saint-Exupery. This workshop will focus not only on the importance of goals, but effective ways to set them so you have a plan for success.

14. Mentoring and Empowering Others - Being an effective leader requires an ability to mentor others, both for their own personal development and also for the good of the team. This workshop will help the leader assess her or his own mentoring skills and consider which skills are most important for their own relationships.

15. Learning from Your Mentee - In a mentoring relationship? Did you know that you can learn just as much from your mentee as they can learn from you? This workshop will help you think about how you relate to your mentee(s) and how to make a mutually beneficial partnership.

16. What it Means to Be a Mentor - What does mentoring look like for you? This workshop will present a variety of perspectives about the roles a mentor may take and give you the opportunity to consider which of those will work best for you.

17. How to Work with College Student Volunteers - Working with college student volunteers is slightly different from general volunteer management. How are you identifying and marketing your organization? How do you work with college students to also help give them the skills and experiences they want to stay volunteering with you? In this presentation we will talk to your staff about volunteer management and retention among college student volunteers and best practices for hosting them.

18. Other - We can tailor a presentation for most leadership and service topics – let us know how we can meet your needs!
